Dear Mr. Kumar

I refer to our discussions concerning the termination of your employment with XL Catlin Services SE, UK Branch (the "Company") and write to set out the terms we have agreed.

Termination Date

1. Your employment will be terminated by reason of redundancy on 31 March 2026 (the "Termination Date"), extended notice having been issued on 14 November 2025. If your employment with the Company terminates on or before the Termination Date for any other reason save for redundancy, the terms of this letter shall have no effect.

2. In the period up to and including the Termination Date you will work normally and co-operate in an orderly transfer of your duties.

Salary & Benefits to Termination Date

3. Save where your employment terminates during or on expiry of an agreed trial period, should an alternative position be offered by the Company or any Group Company and accepted by you on or before the Termination Date the terms of this Agreement shall have no effect and you acknowledge and accept that you will have no entitlement, either at the Termination Date or at any time in the future, to the payments referred in this Agreement.

4. You will continue to receive salary and contractual benefits (less PAYE deductions for income tax and employee national insurance contributions) up to and including the Termination Date. Save as expressly provided for in this letter, your entitlement to salary and all benefits (whether contractual or otherwise) will cease on the Termination Date.

5. Subject to the rules of the applicable scheme(s) in place from time to time, your Company private medical insurance shall continue for a period of 3 months following the Termination Date.

6. You will be paid in respect of any holiday entitlement which has accrued but is untaken as at the Termination Date (less PAYE deductions for income tax and employee national insurance contributions), as detailed out in the release of claims letter in the form set out in Schedule 3 (the "Release of Claims Letter"). This will be paid with your final salary payment. However, where you have taken annual leave in excess of your accrued entitlement, your final salary payment will be adjusted as set out in the Release of Claims letter.

7. Your P45 shall be made up to the Termination Date and issued accordingly.
